Vast Amount of Property Escaping Taxation.

Impossible to Force Men to Assess Some Kinds of Property Under the Present System.

The general property tax was put into effect in Kentucky partly because it was believed that under the old system there was a great deal of property in the shape of money, bonds, stocks, mortgages, liens and other evidences of credit escaped taxation. It was hoped that by a rigid system of assessment and inspection a greater amount of this class of property could be brought to light, greatly increasing the revenues of the state.

The system has succeeded in bringing some of this kind of property to light, but there is still an enormous amount of it that escapes taxation.

The general property tax, it should be remembered, decrees that the same tax must fall on all classes of property. Let us suppose a man, living in almost any town in the state, is the owner of a land note for $1,000, on which 6 per cent interest is paid him. In some of the towns in the state his combined town, county and state tax would be over $3; in most of them it would be between $2.50 and $3. Manifestly, a man will be very unwilling to give in for taxation a piece of property that yields him 6 per cent only, when by so reporting it he condemns himself to having to give up nearly half the income from that property to the tax collector.

Perjury or Confiscation.

But the greater part of property of this class does not pay as much as 6 per cent. A vast amount of this property held in the state, perhaps as much as half of it, is property held in trust for the benefit of widows and children who are not able to earn money themselves, but depend for their support upon the income from property that has been left them by the husband and father and which will be largely invested in notes, stocks, bonds and this general class of property. In normal times much of this class of investment will not pay over 4 per cent, the income running from 4 to 5½ per cent. If, now, the tax rate absorbs from 2½ to 3 per cent, it will be readily seen that very little is left for the support of these helpless people.

The temptation to conceal property when the tax on it will absorb from one-half to three-fourths of the income it yields is stronger than the normal man can resist, and as a rule he does not try to resist it in any state where this system of the general property tax prevails, and that is why the tax authorities of states are coming so generally to denounce it. In Kentucky the evasions of the tax on this class of property are enormous. In September, 1905, only $11,480,000 of bonds, only $1,438,195 of stock in corporations and only $13,046,837 of bank deposits was given in for taxation, although the banks and trust companies of the state contained in that year $92,500,000 of deposits. At the same time the assessors were able to find only $5,407,512 of money outside the banks, or a total of about $18,500,000 of money. That there should have been then only about $83,000,000 of deposits in the banks of the entire state of Kentucky is the most damning proof of the supreme economic folly of our system.

Effect on Value of Real Estate.

We may mark the secondary effect of this policy in the valuation of real estate. It takes capital and accompanying prosperity to enhance real estate values. In 1880 the assessed real estate valuation was $265,053,908, or $160 per capita. In 1890, before our new constitution with the present tax system went into effect, the valuation increased to $203 per capita. In 1900, after eight years of the new tax system, it had increased to $209—an increase of only $6 per capita. The total assessed value of the state in 1880 was $212,63 per capita. In 1890, just before the new constitution, it had increased to $275,80. From 1890 to 1900, with 14 years under the new tax system, it increased only to $293 per capita—an increase of less than $18 per capita in 16 years.

Under our old constitution, with all its imperfections, there was some latitude given to localities in the encouragement of industries. The new constitution adopted in 1891 abolished most of this, but did allow municipalities to give five years' exemption to new manufacturing concerns. The act putting this clause of the constitution into effect was not passed until 1898. The decade then, from 1880 to 1890 illustrates the progress possible under the old liberal system; the decade from 1890 to 1900 illustrates the result of the narrow policy of the new constitution before partial exemption became effective, and the years since 1900 well show the result of the liberal policy of encouragement. Mark then the result: From 1880 to 1890, under a policy of encouragement, the capital employed in manufacturing in Kentucky increased 74.2 per cent. From 1890 to 1900, with all encouragement withdrawn and heavy taxes imposed, the capital invested in manufactures increased only 30.4 per cent. About 1900 the five years' exemptions had been granted in many cities and towns, and from 1900 to 1905 the capital invested in manufactures in Kentucky increased 67.4 per cent.

UNJUST TAX PLAN

The Tax Commissioners of the States Agree

In Denouncing General Tax System Like Ours—Full of Evils
In Operation.

In discussing tax questions in Kentucky and elsewhere, frequent reference is made to the "general property tax." This is the kind of system Kentucky has in force. It is the system that is in force in most of the states.

Briefly, the general property tax is a uniform ad valorem tax levied upon all classes of property alike, regardless of the nature of the earning capacity or of the tangible or intangible character of the property. The taxing authority of a state, for instance, will levy a tax of 50 cents. This tax is to fall upon every kind of property alike. Everything of value, whether real estate, money in bank, notes, bonds, mortgages, shares of stock, live stock, wagons, carriages, jewelry, furniture, any sort of personal property, or franchises of corporations is called property and must pay this tax. This is the general property tax. The general property tax is, therefore, the levying of a uniform ad valorem tax on all property for all purposes.

As distinct from this system is the system of classifying property, raising state revenues from one kind of property, county revenues from another kind of property and city revenues from still another kind, and also the raising of revenues by special taxes of various kinds. The argument in the tax world today is between these two systems of raising the public revenue.

The Kentucky system is the general property tax. Our constitution binds us to the levy of a uniform ad valorem tax on all property of every kind for all purposes. If a piece of property located in the city is taxed for one purpose, it must be taxed for all. If it is a property-earning 6 per cent return to its owner, it must pay the same tax as property earning 20 per cent. If it is a kind that can be removed or hidden it is taxed the same as real estate—if it can be found. No distinction is made on any account whatever; all property must pay the same rate.

This sounds like a very fair system, and in theory, it is fairness itself. But its operation, in the opinion of those who have studied the question, not in Kentucky only—but in every state in the Union, has not borne out the promise made for it. The system has been abandoned in Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Oregon, and partially in a number of other states. The rapid tendency of the states is to get away from it, as impossible and impracticable. Nearly every state has a tax commission has declared itself very frankly on this question. A large number of states have within the last few years appointed tax commissions to carefully study the methods of raising public revenues and, almost invariably, the reports of these commissions have denounced the general property tax system, the system that we have in Kentucky, as being absurd, impossible of enforcement and unjust in its operation.

Denounced by Supreme Court.

The supreme court of the United States leads the way in denouncing the system. In its opinion in the case of the Pacific Express Co. vs. Seibert, the court said:

"This court has repeatedly laid down the doctrine that diversity of taxation, both with respect to the amount imposed and the various species of property selected either for bearing its burdens or being exempt from them, is not inconsistent with a perfect uniformity and equality of taxation in the proper sense of those terms; and that a system which imposes the same tax upon every species of property, irrespective of its nature or condition or class, will be destructive of the principle of uniformity and equality in taxation and of a just adaptation of property to its burdens."

An Illinois tax commission has declared that the uniform ad valorem general property tax, the system that we have also in Kentucky, "is destructive to the conscience and subversive to the public morals—a school for perjury, promoted by law."

An Ohio tax commission has denounced it as "imposing unjust burdens on the man who is scrupulously honest," and Ohio is engaged in an effort to get rid of it.

A New Hampshire tax commission deplores its "corrupting and demoralizing influence."

A New York tax commission says: "It puts a premium on perjury and a penalty on integrity."

In an address to the general assembly of Maryland, Richard T. Ely, one of the greatest of our publicists, said: "The one uniform tax on all property as an exclusive source of revenue never has worked well in any modern community or state in the entire civilized world, though it has been tried thousands of times; and although all the mental resources of able men have been employed to make it work well."

Prof. E. A. Angell, late tax commissioner of Ohio, said in an article in the Independent: "The indirect results of the operation of the law have been to drive away large masses of capital from the state. It is estimated that at least $200,000,000 has been lost to Cleveland alone, and as much more to Cincinnati."

UNCLE HENRY FISH TELLS OF HIS VISIT WEST.

Bliss, Oklahoma, Dec. 18, 1907.

Editor Signal:

For the benefit of my legion of friends and relatives in old Rockcastle who might want to hear and know something as to my whereabouts, I write this brief description of my travels since I left. In all I have traveled 1675 miles stopping first in Arkansas, next in central Missouri, then on to North Missouri, then to Kansas City, Lansing Kansas, thence to this place, where I have been nearly four weeks. I have met many old friends and a few relatives along the line, and am now stopping with one of my kinsmen. I am on what is known as the Tor Ranch, owned by the Miller brothers, and to say that it is a big thing does not do justice. It is a little world within itself. Mrs. Miller and her three sons own and control nearly 10000 acres of fine land as ever lay out of doors, all fenced with the cultivating lands fenced off in fields to itself, which is about 1200 acres. They have 1800 acres in wheat, 1000 acres in alfalfa and are preparing to put out 3000 acres in cotton next spring. The Rauch home is equipped with every convenience, all kind of mills, modern machinery, electric plants, in fact, almost everything that heart could want or money can buy. The lands are selling from $40.00 to $50.00 per acre. As the Indians die off, the Miller boys have succeeded in getting a hold of pretty much all the land within the ranch that can be bought at all. Their ranch extends 22 miles North and South and 4 to 6 miles East and West. They have 1600 head of cattle, 500 head of horses and mules, 300 hogs and 20 buffaloes. They sold $5000.00 worth of cotton a few days ago and have more than $4000.00 yet to sell.

type of the old Kentucky domestic woman. She spends most of her time fussing with her poultry, pigeons etc. She has just completed a pigeon house and henry connected at a cost of $700.00. It is a hundred and fifty feet long, and one side is built of glass. She has five hundred chickens, and geese by the hundreds. The geese are so large that it takes one hand to hold a goose down while she picks it. She has about 1000 Homer pigeons which are the most beautiful things on the ranch. To describe this ranch in detail would take too much time and space.

I have stood my trip just fine and am feeling tip top. I will leave here about next Saturday for Oklahoma City to meet William Jennings Bryan according to promise. Will let you hear from me later.

Yours very truly,

KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce G. T. JOHNSON as a candidate for County Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.

THE good year of 1907 is only a matter of history, with fond recollections for some and misery and disappointment for others. For us, it has not been an extreme either way, but, all in all, about as much of the good and not much more of the bad that we could expect.

To our patrons we feel very grateful for the patronage given us and earnestly ask a continuance for the year 1908, which we will endeavor by every effort to merit. Our aim and purpose is to give to our reader the best and most readable paper, that our circumstances and conditions will permit, and when we fall below this level, no one realizes it more fully than we, but as a most brilliant lady said before the meeting of the mid-winter session of the Kentucky Press Association in Louisville last week "But few people have any conception of what it means to publish a paper." The average country newspaper man, works more hours to the day and more days to the year than any other man in his town, and gets less pay for his work, and yet we find every now and then a person, who says that he is not getting "enough paper" for his dollar. To those who have that conception, we would say, try the work, for yourself and at the end of the first week, that same person would advocate a raise in subscription from one to five.

The country newspaper man has learned not to expect much money but he does appreciate the proper consideration for his efforts, and the best way to show your appreciation, is to give him your business so long as he can give you what you want at a reasonable price.

To one and all we wish a prosperous and happy year.

The make-up of the committee of the House was announced just before the adjournment of Congress for the holidays Hon. Harvey Helm, the new Congressman from this district, it is said by those who should know, to have fared better in these committee assignments than any new member from this State if not better than any new Democrat in the whole house. He was not only placed on two committees, while the others were given only one, but so his committees are among the most important known in House legislation. The Committee on Insular Affairs, which has charge of everything in the Philippines and other island possessions, was the important committee to which Mr. Helm's distinguished predecessor was assigned during the last term of his eight years service. Mr. Helm not only succeeds Mr. Gilbert on this committee, but is also given a place on the equally important Committee on Expenditures on Public Buildings. It is not remembered at Washington when any new member was placed on either of these committees, and it is assumed that the member from the Eighth already stands high in the estimate of the minority leaders—Shelby News.

Herman Richard Crenshaw a young farmer of Trigg county was arrested at Hopkinsville on the charge of being a member of the mob which raided Hopkinsville on the morning of December 7. The warrant was issued at the instance of State Fire Marshall Mott Ayars on affidavits made by W. D. Hawkins, who claims he recognized Crenshaw as a member of a portion of the mob which took him prisoner. After seeing Crenshaw face to face Wednesday afternoon Hawkins swore to a second affidavit of identification. Crenshaw, who was released on $2,000 bond denies the charge.

TELLS HOW TO MIX IT.

A well known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable, yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Karrow, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in bottle a take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

BROWN MEMORIAL SCHOOL.

The winter term begins January 20th, and the school offers the usual courses through the twelve grades. Two more teachers have been added, one in the music department and one in the grammar grades. The latter will have the teacher's reviews.

Parents are again asked to carefully consider the rules and regulations of the school before entering their children; then there will be no cause for friction. There are very few rules, but these, as heretofore, will be rigidly enforced for the good of the whole student body.

All tuition must be paid in advance. This warning gives everyone a chance to have it ready. The school is no longer an experiment. Its work is above criticism, and worthy of the best financial and moral support the community is able to give it. There is not a school in Kentucky that offers a better opportunity to boys and girls who are in earnest. It is but right to charge the tasters who stay but a day or a week five dollars.

A very heavy earthquake was enter for less. There has been recorded on the instruments at the spent upon the work here this fall, Coast and Geological Survey observatory at Cheltenham, Md. There has been paid in from the Monday morning.

Remember there is a splendid set of students at the dormitory working their way, and carrying off many of the honors of the school! One of these, a first year high school student, averaged 94 per cent in her terms work. The county should be proud of such young people, and proud of the school that is furnishing the means for such work. We think those who understand are appreciative.

For the steadfast encouragement, confidence and hearty support of the business men of the town, the principal wishes at the beginning of the new year to express her thanks, and to assure them that the work is only begun. Better things are to follow.

Guaranteed Cure
for Constipation

After watching results for sixteen years, during which time many millions of bottles were sold and thousands of letters from users were received, the originators of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup present the great herb laxative compound, safe in guaranteeing it in the treatment of all diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels, such as chronic constipation, dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, bloated stomach, heartburn, etc. There is an absolute guarantee to refund the purchase price if Dr. Caldwell's Syrup does not do what is claimed for it.

Poverty or Perjury.

"For sixteen years this remedy has been recommended by physicians and laymen, and tried all the remedies that I could gather from medical works, and also consulted various physicians and laymen, and found nothing that gave the relief desired, and today I am using it with great success." Mrs. Williams of Sidney, Ill., writes that she used it in her home all her married life and would not let anyone else have it. Many hundreds of others have written to the same effect.

If you have any compunctions about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup, go to your druggist and get a 50 cent or $1 bottle. This is on the basis that we guarantee satisfaction. You will find it gentle in nature and pleasant in taste. It works quickly and effectively. It is a purgative waters, salts and cathartic powders or pills, does not grip and leaves you feeling weak and tired. It is especially suited to children and weak people because of its gentle action.

DRIVEN AWAY BY TAXATION

Very Large Capital Withdrawn From Kentucky.

The Case of the Walsh Estate in Lexington Points Out a Dangerous Result of Our Tax System.

The manner in which the tax system of Kentucky may seriously affect its business interests was recently given a very striking demonstration in Lexington. The estate of Mrs. Clara Bell Walsh, amounting to about $750,000, had been for many years managed by the Security Trust company of Lexington, as trustee. A petition was filed recently in the Fayette circuit court, asking the court to terminate the trusteeship, so that Mrs. Walsh might put her property in the hands of a trust company in St. Louis. The Security Trust company, which had been acting as trustee, did not oppose this suit, it being distinctly stated in the petition of Mrs. Walsh that the services of the trust company had been in every way satisfactory, but that the taxes imposed upon her property were too burdensome.

The peculiar feature of the case lies in the fact that Mrs. Walsh, herself, resides in St. Louis and, therefore, claims that her personal property should not be taxed at Lexington in the hands of her trustee. The court of appeals having held otherwise, and Mrs. Walsh, not feeling justified in paying a tax rate of $2.70 on the stocks, bonds and other investments in the hands of the Kentucky trustee, since she could not derive any possible good from the payment of this tax, decided to remove the property to the state of her residence.

A considerable part of the estate was invested in local securities—the bonds of local corporations and real estate mortgages. This will mean that the money will gradually be withdrawn from investment in these local securities and reinvested by the St. Louis trustee in other securities, thus constituting a loss of that much money to enterprises in and around Lexington and Fayette county. It means just that much greater scarcity of needed capital.

The Lexington Herald has been, with great energy and skill, showing the result of this sort of taxation on the business interests of the state. It points out, among other things, the inconsistency in the decisions of our courts, which hold that a man who lives in one Kentucky county and has intangible personal property, such as stocks, bonds, or money, in the hands of a trustee in another county of Kentucky, must pay the tax in the county of his residence and not in the county where the trustee resides; but if the owner of the property moves entirely out of the state, then he must pay a tax in the county where the trustee resides, as well as pay the tax in the state where he takes up his new residence, thus constituting double taxation.

Consumed With Taxation.

In her petition asking for the change in trusteeship Mrs. Walsh says: "Plaintiffs desire, if said Clara Bell Walsh be not entitled to a discharge of the trustee, that there be a change in the person of said trustee, and if it can be done that the funds and property in trust be transferred to a trustee duly qualified under and resident in the state of Missouri, where they have their home. Plaintiffs state that the reasons why a change of trustee is desired do not in any manner relate to the conduct or fidelity of said trustee, but are on account of the heavy burdens of taxation imposed on said estate by reason of the residence of the trustee in a state and city different from the home of the beneficiary."

Court of Appeals Decision.

The Herald adds the following fact as to the case. "Under this decision of the court, Mrs. Walsh's personal property would be liable for city, state and county taxes here; and realizing that she, a non-resident of the state, could derive no possible benefit from taxes paid to the city on her personal property, Mrs. Walsh takes this means of getting possession of her property. The removal of the estate to another state is a powerful argument against the wisdom of the system of taxation in force in Kentucky; for though the investments made by the trustee in local securities are so safe and highly regarded as to be retained, yet when a reinvestment is made it is likely that a large portion of the funds will be invested elsewhere, thus depriving this community and state of so much badly needed capital for its progress and development.

Poverty or Perjury.

"A prominent attorney of this city, in discussing before the Taxation Committee of the Kentucky senate in 1906 the tax system of our state, denounced our personal property tax as necessarily leading either to poverty or perjury. We do not know whether any statistics on the subject are available, but we think it a safe guess that at least three-fourths of all the intangible personal property, such as bonds, notes, and cash, which is assessed for taxation in Kentucky, is in the hands of fiduciaries. Is it a fair and manly thing to place upon those least able to bear it nearly all the burden of such a tax?"

WHY COLDS ARE DANGEROUS.

If you would be immune from disease, keep the system healthy. Each successive cold weakens the constitution and renders infectious diseases more liable. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure your cold promptly and restore the system to its normal condition. For sale by Chas. C. Davis.

The Herald adds the following fact as to the case. "Under this decision of the court, Mrs. Walsh's personal property would be liable for city, state and county taxes here; and realizing that she, a non-resident of the state, could derive no possible benefit from taxes paid to the city on her personal property, Mrs. Walsh takes this means of getting possession of her property. The removal of the estate to another state is a powerful argument against the wisdom of the system of taxation in force in Kentucky; for though the investments made by the trustee in local securities are so safe and highly regarded as to be retained, yet when a reinvestment is made it is likely that a large portion of the funds will be invested elsewhere, thus depriving this community and state of so much badly needed capital for its progress and development.

Poverty or Perjury.

"A prominent attorney of this city, in discussing before the Taxation Committee of the Kentucky senate in 1906 the tax system of our state, denounced our personal property tax as necessarily leading either to poverty or perjury. We do not know whether any statistics on the subject are available, but we think it a safe guess that at least three-fourths of all the intangible personal property, such as bonds, notes, and cash, which is assessed for taxation in Kentucky, is in the hands of fiduciaries. Is it a fair and manly thing to place upon those least able to bear it nearly all the burden of such a tax?"

Consumed With Taxation.

In her petition asking for the change in trusteeship Mrs. Walsh says: "Plaintiffs desire, if said Clara Bell Walsh be not entitled to a discharge of the trustee, that there be a change in the person of said trustee, and if it can be done that the funds and property in trust be transferred to a trustee duly qualified under and resident in the state of Missouri, where they have their home. Plaintiffs state that the reasons why a change of trustee is desired do not in any manner relate to the conduct or fidelity of said trustee, but are on account of the heavy burdens of taxation imposed on said estate by reason of the residence of the trustee in a state and city different from the home of the beneficiary."

Court of Appeals Decision.
